

The Islands of the Eastern Caribbean are world renowned for their beautiful beaches, seductive sunsets, lush landscapes and captivating cultures. However beyond these charming characteristics, the islands boast an even more impressive array of qualities that make them ideal for those who seek more than leisure; those who are ready to do business. The States of the Eastern Caribbean enjoy political stability and dynamic economies. They are recognized for their respect for global business and legal norms, a highly skilled and intelligent labour force, modern infrastructure coupled with a keen sense of what international investors seek. These are underpinned by regional integration institutions such as the Eastern Caribbean Currency Union and the Eastern Caribbean Central Bank, the Eastern Caribbean Supreme Court and most recently, the OECS Economic Union which will transform the sub-region into a single economic and financial space, thereby expanding the market for international investors. So whether it is the tourism sector, agro-business, light manufacturing, creative and cultural industries, information and communication technology or international financial services, the Eastern Caribbean is the place to invest. The Eastern Caribbean States as small island developing states are committed to a sustainable future, and particularly welcome investment in green technologies in order to promote green economic growth.
